Riker Danzig Co-Managing Partner Michael R. O'Donnell was featured in Commerce Magazine's Annual Best Practices Guide. The special section in the September 2020 issue quoted New Jersey leaders on how COVID-19 has changed how companies conduct business, and how to thrive in the new normal using technology, new paradigms and innovations.

Mike noted that Riker Danzig has always enjoyed a very collaborative culture, routinely engaging in client matters informally throughout the day, and that our biggest cultural adjustment has been in connecting with each other via teleconference and web conference in place of the preferred face-to-face interactions. He explained that we have prioritized regular communication within our practice groups to keep our attorneys and staff connected and engaged with each other. He also emphasized that our attorneys and staff have worked remotely and securely throughout the pandemic, remaining available to assist our clients without disruption.
