MEMORANDUM

FROM: Riker Danzig
DATE: November 6, 2013
SUBJECT: New Jersey 2013 General Election Results

On Tuesday, November 5, 2013, New Jersey voters selected, by a 60.5 to 38% margin, incumbent Governor Chris Christie for re-election over Democratic State Senator Barbara Buono. The voters also re-elected Lieutenant Governor Kim Guadagno over Milly Silva. The new gubernatorial term begins on January 21, 2014.

The Democrats retained control of the Assembly, where they presently hold a 46-32 margin.¹ So far, the Republicans picked up only one (1) seat in the 1st legislative district going to Republican challenger Sam Fiocchi. In the 38th district, the race is too close to call with all four candidates securing 25% of the vote with a difference of 171 votes: Democratic newcomer Joseph Lagana securing 24,838, Republican Joseph Scarpa at 24,716, incumbent Assemblyman Tim Eustace at 24,545 and Republican challenger Joan Fragala with 24,538 votes.

As a result, it is not yet certain if the Democrats' margin in the Assembly will slip to 46-34 if there is split in the 38th district on January 14, 2014, when the new Legislature is sworn in and the new legislative session begins. Since no seats changed in the Senate, the Democrats also retain control of the Senate where they presently have a 24-16 majority.

The Assembly Democratic caucus is expected to designate Assemblyman Vincent Prieto (D-32) as Assembly Speaker and Assemblyman Lou Greenwald (D-6) to keep his present leadership post as Assembly Majority Leader. Senate President Steve Sweeney (D-3) is expected to maintain the top spot in the Senate, with Senator Loretta Weinberg (D-37) to continue on as the Senate Majority Leader. Senator Tom Kean (R-21) will likely keep his position as Minority Leader, but may face a challenge within his caucus. It is also anticipated that Assemblyman Jon Bramnick (R-21) will retain his position as Assembly Minority Leader in the Republican caucus.

There were many contested races in the 40 legislative districts, but only a few races of particular note:

District 1 (Atlantic/Cape May/Cumberland): Senator Jeff VanDrew defeated Republican Susan Adelizzi-Schmidt by a 59 to 40% vote. Democratic incumbent Assemblyman Bob Andrzejczak was the lead vote getter and Republican challenger Cumberland County Freeholder Sam Fiocchi will now take the seat held by Assemblyman Nelson Albano by a vote of 27 to 25 to 24%.

District 2 (Atlantic): Democratic State Senator Jim Whelan defeated Republican Atlantic County Sheriff Frank Balles by a vote of 55 to 45% in this split district. Republican incumbent Assemblymen John Amodeo and Chris Brown held onto their seats in the face of a strong challenge by Democrats Vincent Mazzeo and Nick Russo 26 to 25 to 24% margin.

District 3 (Cumberland/Gloucester/Salem): Senate President Steve Sweeney defeated Republican challenger Niki Trunk by a vote of 55 to 45%. Democratic incumbents John Burzichelli and Celeste Riley will keep their seats in this race between Republican challengers Salem County Freeholder Bob Vanderslice and Gloucester County Freeholder Larry Wallace by a 28 to 27 to 23% margin.

District 7 (Burlington): Democratic incumbents Assemblymen Herb Conaway and Troy Singleton defeated Republican challengers Jeff Banasz and Anthony Ogozalek by a vote of 27 to 23%. Republican State Senator Diane Allen defeated challenger Democrat Gary Catrambone by a vote of 61 to 39%.

District 14 (Mercer/Middlesex): In a close race, Democratic incumbent Senator Linda Greenstein defeated Republican and former State Senator Pete Inverso by a vote of 50 to 48%. Greenstein's Assembly counterparts Assemblymen Dan Benson and Wayne DeAngelo held onto their seats in this 27 to 26 to 24% challenge by Republicans Steve Cook and Ronald Haas.

District 16 (Hunterdon, Mercer, Middlesex and Somerset): Assembly Republican incumbents Jack Ciattarelli and Donna Simon defeated Democrats Marie Corfield and Ida Ochoteco by a vote of 28 to 22%. Senator Kip Bateman likewise retained his seat by a comfortable margin of 60 to 40% against Democrat Christian Mastondrea.

District 18 (Middlesex): Democratic incumbent Assemblyman Peter Barnes defeated his Republican challenger East Brunswick Mayor David Stahl by a vote of 52 to 48% and will fill the Senate seat in January vacated by gubernatorial candidate Barbara Buono who gave up her Senate seat to run for Governor. Barnes' running mates Assemblyman Pat Diegnan and East Brunswick Councilwoman and lobbyist Nancy Pinkin faced a strong challenge by Republicans Robert Bengivenga and Lisa Goldhamer. The Democrats will continue to hold the Assembly seats in the wake of this contentious race by a vote of 27 to 26 to 23%.

District 38 (Bergen and Passaic): Democrat incumbent Senator Bob Gordon defeated Republican college professor Fernando Alonso by a vote of 52 to 48%. However, the Assembly races are very tight between all four candidates. Democratic attorney and president of the Paramus Borough Council Joseph Lagana got the most votes thus far, but is trailed closely by Republican Joseph Scarpa, Assemblyman Tim Eustace and Republican Joan Fragala who each garnered 25% of the vote.

Assembly seats will be vacated by the following four (4) incumbents: Scott Rudder (R-8); Ruben Ramos (D-33); Sean Conners (D-33); and Robert Schroeder (R-39). In the new session, those seats will be held by Maria Rodriguez-Gregg (R-8); Carmelo Garcia (D-33); Raj Mukherji (D-33); and Robert Auth (R-39). See biographies attached.

On the local front, there were a number of contests at the county freeholder level, including Bergen, Burlington, Cumberland, Gloucester, Ocean and Salem Counties. Republicans retained the majority in Burlington, Cape May, Salem and Ocean Counties, but Democrats could gain additional seats in Bergen County to increase their lead to 5-2 on that Freeholder Board. Democrats also retained control in Cumberland and took exclusive control in Mercer, Passaic and Gloucester Counties. In addition, there were several key mayoral races of note in Atlantic City (Republican Don Guardian), Camden (incumbent Democrat Dana Redd), Edison (Democrat Thomas Lankey), Hamilton (Republican Kelly Yaede), and Hoboken (Dawn Zimmer).

New Jersey voters also approved two public questions to amend the New Jersey Constitution to permit money from existing games of chance to support veterans' organizations by a 81 to 19 margin and (2) set a State minimum wage of $8.25 (up from $7.25) with annual cost of living increases by a vote of 61 to 39.

Maria Rodriguez-Gregg

General Assembly Candidate (LD-8)

Although this represents her first bid for public office, through her personal experience, Maria has a full grasp of the financial, employment and educational challenges facing so many families and young people today.

Professionally, her focus has been in the field of dentistry as a Certified and Registered Dental Assistant and in dental practice management. For almost a decade, Maria worked in various general dental practices as well as in the specialty of Orthodontics. She later served as an Instructor at the Burlington County Institute of Technology's Dental Assisting program, and finally, became an instructor and mentor for dental professionals at a private firm in Piscataway.

She is active member of the community; Maria has been a member of Civil Air Patrol in New Jersey for several years, a Congressionally-created auxiliary to the United States Air Force. The Civil Air Patrol (CAP) is engaged in times of emergency, assisting in search and rescue missions, disaster relief and, most recently, was engaged in emergency operations during Hurricane Sandy.

This is strictly a voluntary, unpaid endeavor for Maria. She has served in several leadership positions including Deputy Commander for Cadets, Project Officer for NJ CAP Color Guard and Competition team, and currently as Assistant Director Cadet Programs for the NJ Wing. She is the recipient of a number of official commendations for her service in Civil Air Patrol.

Maria is currently a member of the Board of Trustees for Burlington County College and serves as chair of the Academic Affairs Committee. She also served for two years as a member of the Board of Directors for Habitat of Humanity of Burlington County.

Maria is a graduate of Burlington County College and recently graduated from Rutgers University-Camden with a degree in Economics this spring, 2013. Maria and her husband, Brian, have two children.

Eliana Pintor-Marin

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Eliana Pintor-Marin is an American Democratic Party politician, who represents the 29th Legislative District in the New Jersey General Assembly, having been named to the seat on September 11, 2013, to fill the vacant seat of Alberto Coutinho following his resignation.

Pintor-Marin was born in Newark, New Jersey and was raised in its East Ward. After graduating from Mother Seton Regional High School she earned a bachelor's and master's degree from St. John's University in legal studies and government / politics respectively, before working for an investment banking firm. She is employed in the office of the Essex County Clerk and has served as a member of the Advisory Board to the Newark Public Schools.^[1]

General Assembly

Coutinho resigned from office as of September 11, 2013, amid an investigation into a charity that had been established by his father. A special convention of 200 Essex County Democratic Committee members chose Pintor Marin to fill his vacant seat in the Assembly and to take his ballot position for the November 2013 general election.^[2]

District 29

Each of the 40 districts in the New Jersey Legislature has one representative in the New Jersey Senate and two members in the New Jersey General Assembly. The other representatives from the 29th District for the 2012-2013 Legislative Session are:^[3]

- Senator Teresa Ruiz, and
- Assemblywoman L. Grace Spencer

Executive Director Carmelo G. Garcia

Hoboken Housing Authority Executive Director Carmelo G. Garcia is no outsider to life in public housing. A Hoboken native, Director Garcia grew up in "the projects" himself. He lived in Harrison Gardens as a child and is a successful product of the city's public school system.

Director Garcia attained a Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice and Sociology from Seton Hall University in 1997. In June 2004, he attained a Master's degree in Management and Information Systems from Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken.

Director Garcia, whose family roots are in Puerto Rico, made Hoboken history when he became the first minority appointed as the city's Director of Health and Human Services in June 2001. He also served as Chief of Staff to the Hudson County Board of Chosen Freeholders from 1999 through 2005. Director Garcia was elected to the Hoboken Board of Education in 2002. He has served as president and vice president of the board and still serves as a trustee today.

In 2007, Garcia left his position as city director of Health and Human Services when he was hired as deputy director at the Hoboken Housing Authority. He was selected after a national selection process that brought in hundreds of candidates. In May 2009, Director Garcia was appointed as executive director of the very same housing authority where he grew up.

For his advocacy and leadership in public service, policy and education, Director Garcia has been recognized by U.S. Sen. Robert Menendez, former governors Christine Whitman and Jim McGreevey and former U.S. senators Robert Torricelli and Jon Corzine.

Director Garcia's love for Hoboken is undying.

He is president of Hoboken's Police Athletic League and is past president of the Hoboken Puerto Rican Cultural Committee and the Applied Housing Tenant Association. Director Garcia serves as the Vice President of Public Affairs for the Hudson County Jaycees and is founder of Hoboken's Save the Youth Academy. The program was designed to help at-risk teens live a healthier lifestyle by

RAJ MUKHERJI
FOR ASSEMBLY

Endorsed by SENATE and the Hudson County
for New Jersey's 33rd

My campaign for the State Assembly

WE WON!

Read Raj's thank you message here.

On Tuesday, June 4, voters in the Democratic primary election in the 33rd Legislative District (parts of Jersey City and all of Union City, Hoboken, and Weehawken) voted to reelect State Senator and Union City Mayor Brian P. Stack and elect his running mates, Jersey City Deputy Mayor and Housing Authority Chairman Raj Mukherji and Hoboken Housing Authority Executive Director Carmelo G. Garcia.

With approximately 95% of the precincts reporting, Garcia garnered 46% and Mukherji won with 42% of the vote, with challenger Peter Basso at 6% and the other three challengers at 2% or less. Garcia and Mukherji will now face a general election as the Democratic Party nominees against two Republican challengers on Tuesday, November 5.

"Deputy Mayor Mukherji's leadership has resulted in tremendous progress at the Jersey City Housing Authority. He is also a former technology CEO and U.S. Marine reservist with a law degree and an Ivy League Master's degree. It's worth noting that Raj started two successful companies as a young adult, demonstrating an understanding of the business world," said Senator Stack. "Despite Raj's young age, I am confident that his energy, experiences, and talents will serve the residents of the district well."

Senator Stack also touted his pride in the diversity of both his legislative ticket and the district, which is over 54% Hispanic and 11.5% Asian. Garcia is of Puerto Rican and Central American descent, and Mukherji is of Asian-Indian descent.

If he goes on to win the general election, Mukherji will be the only Bengali state legislator in the United States, the second South Asian state legislator in New Jersey history, and the first -ever Asian legislator from Hudson County.

ABOUT RAJ

A champion of the middle class and working families, former Jersey City Deputy Mayor Raj Mukherji, 28, is the son of Indian American immigrants. Raj supported himself through high school, college, and grad school as an emancipated minor when economic circumstances forced his parents to return to their native India. After suffering a pituitary tumor, stroke, and other ailments, Raj's father - the late Asim Mukherji, an accountant - could no longer work as a result of his health but could not afford health coverage without employment. This experience shaped Raj's perspective and interest in healthcare and inspired much of his subsequent advocacy in that field.

Deputy Mayor Mukherji had founded an Internet consulting and software development company while in middle school, grew it, and later sold it to a larger technology company to join the Marines two weeks after 9/11 at age 17, where he served in military intelligence for the Marine Corps Reserve. The young entrepreneur withdrew from high school at 15 to enroll in an early college program at Bard College at Simon's Rock and eventually earned a bachelor's degree from Thomas Edison State College, an individualized Master of Liberal Arts focused on national security from the University of Pennsylvania, and a law degree (Juris Doctor), cum laude, from Seton Hall Law School. He is presently an Adjunct Professor of Political Science at New Jersey City University.

From March 2012 thru June 2013, Raj served as one of the two Deputy Mayors of Jersey City, New Jersey's second largest city. Commonly dubbed "Wall Street West," Jersey City – the economic engine of the state – is responsible for the contribution of hundreds of millions to state income tax revenues and has a municipal operating budget of nearly $500 million.

At 19, he cofounded a public affairs firm that he grew into the state's third largest lawyer-lobbying firm while learning the inner workings of the State House and becoming fascinated by the policymaking and legislative processes in Trenton. With clients ranging from social justice causes to higher education institutions to government agencies to Fortune 500 corporations, he advocated to abolish the death penalty in New Jersey and replace it with life imprisonment without parole; lobbied for LGBTI equality; worked with the NJEDA and the Business Action Center in successfully advocating for job creation and tax credit incentives; successfully brokered or facilitated complex transactions, including the sales of a nursing home and hospitals; and secured millions in grants or appropriations for hospitals and nonprofit clients and advocated to expand Medicaid and charity care for the underprivileged, a cause especially dear to his heart due to his father's narrative.

At 24, Raj was appointed the youngest Commissioner and Chairman in the history of the Jersey City Housing Authority – the state's second largest housing authority – where he has earned nationwide acclaim for his oversight and various reforms at the $70 million agency serving over 16,000 residents and over 6,700 households. During his tenure, the JCHA undertook several multimillion dollar transformations of distressed housing developments and also improved its annual Section 8 management score from HUD to the four highest ratings in the agency's history and the highest in the State among similarly-sized housing authorities.

At the Housing Authority, Raj was first appointed to a fractured Board of Commissioners, replacing a chairperson who was removed by state authorities and later convicted on corruption charges. He quickly built consensus, repaired the Board's relationships with its staff, and restored public trust in the agency, and today - nearly five years later - the greener, safer, modernized JCHA is lauded as a champion of quality of life enhancements and crime reduction initiatives, energy efficiency and green building practices, policies promoting Section 3 hiring, and an impeccable track record of revitalizing obsolete public housing.

Under Chairman Mukherji's leadership, the JCHA received acclaim for its new anti-crime and social services initiatives; for using stimulus funds to create a "Green-hab Crew" to renovate units using green technologies; for undertaking a multimillion dollar energy efficiency investment that spanned seven of its complexes; and for the HOPE VI-funded A. Harry Moore revitalization that transformed blighted barracks-style and high-rise "vertical concentrations of poverty" into energy-efficient, privately managed, architecturally distinguished mixed-income communities, providing social and supportive services and attracting low, moderate, and market-rate residents. Mukherji also spearheaded the start of a $300 million transformation of the Montgomery Gardens-McGinley Square corridor.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE OF BERGEN COUNTY

Joe Lagana for Assembly - D38

A husband & father of two young daughters, Joe Lagana will fight to keep NJ's 38th District affordable so families and seniors can continue to call it home.

In two years as a Paramus councilman, Joe has worked with members of both parties to craft consecutive budgets with no increased spending.

In the New Jersey Assembly, Joe will work for us by cutting wasteful state spending and lowering taxes for small businesses to create new jobs and opportunities.

Joe knows that moving forward is something everyone needs to work for together and will fight to cap college tuitions and to return the 38th District's fair share of school aid.
